

Journal of Forensic and Legal Medicine

OFFICIAL JOURNAL of the
FACULTY OF FORENSIC AND LEGAL MEDICINE,
THE AUSTRALIAN COLLEGE OF LEGAL MEDICINE AND THE BRITISH ASSOCIATION IN FORENSIC MEDICINE

AIMS AND SCOPE

The Journal of Forensic and Legal Medicine provides a forum for the rapid publication of topical articles on all clinical aspects of forensic medicine and related specialities. The Journal carries definitive reviews, original communications, hypotheses, and learning points of important issues, offering critical analysis and scientific appraisal. All submissions are peer-reviewed by at least two independent reviewers, and the Journal is listed in MEDLINE/Index Medicus.

All aspects of the medical principles of care and forensic assessment of living individuals, whether adult or child, in contact with the judicial system are examined and the Journal has a broad international perspective.

Topics covered in the Journal include, but are not limited to, the following, particularly with relevance to the clinical setting: forensic medicine, pathology, science, toxicology, odontology, anthropology, psychiatry; death and care in custody; training; forensic nursing; occupational health of police; fitness to interview; death investigation, causes of death; forensic medicine national systems; human identification; entomology, palynology; taphonomy; mental health; criminology; profiling; child abuse and neglect; interpersonal violence; assault and injury, personal injury, elder abuse, domestic violence, sexual assault; suicide, parasuicide, deliberate self-harm; restraint injuries; drug and alcohol misuse; drink and drug driving; traffic medicine, transportation medicine; refugee and asylum medicine; medical law, ethics, medical negligence; mass disaster, war graves, torture; extra-judicial death; human rights.
